

ENRIQUETA HARRIS FRANKFORT CURATORIAL ASSISTANT

(Full-time)

2 Year Fixed-Term Contract

The Wallace Collection is delighted to honour the memory of Dr. Enriqueta Harris Frankfort with a two-year curatorial assistant post that combines museum experience with Spanish art- historical studies. Before her death in 2006, Dr. Harris Frankfort was a leading authority on Spanish painting in the UK, particularly the works of Velázquez and Goya. The Wallace Collection is proud to collaborate with the Centro de Estudios Europa Hispanica (CEEH) in the appointment of this role, and is extremely grateful for their on-going support.

This post is intended to strengthen the curatorial team and specifically its research activities in the field of Spanish painting, but also to provide a professional start in the career of someone intending to make a career in curatorship. It is envisaged as a training opportunity for someone with little experience of museum work but with a formal academic training, and is designed to encourage an early-stage researcher to engage with museum objects and produce new research.

For further details, applicants are advised to consult the Wallace Collection website or contact the HR department at the Wallace Collection.

Application deadline: 1st July 2019.
