19TH Century Studies

33/2021

Opening Essays

1 Too Untidy to Live? Helen Burns and Disorderly Girlhood Experience
Elissa Myers

19 The Periodical Text Network, Serialized Genres, and the Making of "Literature" in the Nineteenth-Century United States
Matthew Pethers

46 Goldmark's "Thoughts on Form and Style"—and on the Wagnerians' Anti-Semitism
David Brodbeck

Special Section: Essays in Honor of Susan Grace Galassi

73 Preface: Essays in Honor of Susan Grace Galassi
Joanna Sheers Seidenstein, Eloise Owens, and Margot Bernstein

78 Renoir's Bathers (Study for The Great Bathers): A Recent Acquisition at the Morgan Library and Museum
Colin B. Bailey

92 See Sharp: Discord across Portraits of the Mozart Family Attributed to Carmontelle
Margot Bernstein

113 Confronting the Past, Hanging Together: Charles Stewart Carstairs's Campaign for Modern Art
Margaret Iacono Wertz

128 Bonnard and the Folding Screen: Toward a Theory of Ornamentalism
Cindy Kang

143 Whistler's Crepuscules—from Valparaíso to Venice
Margaret F. MacDonald

158 A Happy Ending for Lady Skipwith: Portraits by Reynolds and Lawrence
Aimee Ng

173 Room for Pride: The Municipal Portrait Gallery in Old San Juan
Pablo Pérez d'Ors

186 The Nineteenth-Century Lives of Juan de Pareja (ca. 1608–1670)
David Pullins

200 The Impact of Travel on American Collectors during the Long Nineteenth Century
Inge Reist

217 "A true Patron without any pretense of being one": William H. Stewart, His Album, and His Friends from the Modern Spanish School in Nineteenth-Century Paris
Iraida Rodríguez-Negrón

242 Francisco Oller and France: New Perspectives
Edward J. Sullivan

256 Grace
Naina Saligram