

Table of Contents

Foreword, by Juan Pimentel	9
Preliminary Note	13
Acknowledgements	15
Introduction	19
Early Modern Science and Baroque Culture	20
Accumulation. Representation. Preservation	26
I. ACCUMULATION
Chapter 1. Cultures of Accumulation in the Early Modern Period	37
Representing Things: Pictures of Collections	37
Natural Resources, Curiosity and Collecting	43
The Triumph of Mimetic Capital	49
Chapter 2. Collecting and Fiction in Early Seventeenth-Century Madrid	57
Artistic Accumulation and Visual Illusionism in the Lower Summer Quarters of the Real Alcázar	57
Collecting and Fiction: The House of Juan de Espina	81
Chapter 3. Accumulation and Natural Knowledge in the Work of Juan Eusebio Nieremberg	97
Natural History as Accumulation	99
Privileged Sources: The Hernández Expedition Materials	102
Historia Naturae : A Singular Collection	107

II. REPRESENTATION

Chapter 4. Natural History, Medical Knowledge and Visual Representation in New Spain: The Illustrations of the Francisco Hernández Expedition	117
Travel, Experience and Image-Making in New Spain	118
The Hernández Expedition Images: Natural Knowledge and Visualisation from Life	121
The Accademia dei Lincei and the Tesoro Messicano	131
Chapter 5. Portraying Exotic Nature: The Woodcut Images in Juan Eusebio Nieremberg's Historia Naturae	139
An Eclectic Visual Corpus	140
Christoffel Jegher and the Art of the Woodcut	149
A Few Visual Novelties	155
A Palace of Empty Walls	170
Chapter 6. Nature and Knowledge in Spanish Baroque Painting	175
Imitation and Still Life Painting	176
Picturing Nature: The Case of the Passion Flower	182

III. PRESERVATION

Chapter 7. Natural Knowledge, Visual Culture and Preservation in the Early Modern Period	203
Painting as Preservation	205
To Have and Have Not (Feet): The Case of the Bird of Paradise	208
Nieremberg and the Manucodiata	216
The Bird of Paradise in Early Modern European Visual Culture	222
Chapter 8. Preservation, Knowledge and Vanitas	255
Nieremberg and the Theme of Worldly Vanity	256
Science and Vanitas Painting: Antonio de Pereda and Juan de Valdés Leal	259
Vain Knowledge?	276
Conclusions	281
Bibliography	287
Index	317
Illustration Credits	325